Our attitude towards tax planning and tax risk management

- ❖ As a group, we consider ourselves a risk averse organisation with regard to the management of our tax affairs and this is supported by key management personnel;
- ❖ We strive for certainty on our tax positions but appreciate that at times, tax law can be unclear and therefore take every step to ensure our positions are reasonable and appropriately supported;
- ❖ We work closely with HMRC to minimise our tax liabilities by taking advantage of appropriate legislative concessions and reliefs but are always prudent in our interpretation of tax legislation, steering clear of aggressive solutions;
- ❖ We strive to keep HMRC informed of business activities and changes in the group as they arise and proactively engage in dialogue to disclose issues and uncertain tax positions as they are identified;
- ❖ Our decisions are focused on commercial drivers. The acquisitive nature of the group often results in the need for streamlining and restructuring our operations to maximise efficiencies and simplify administrative complexities. This is always performed having taken appropriate advice to ensure solutions comply with relevant legislation and do not challenge the boundaries;
- ❖ Advance clearances are sought when possible;

We aim for a constructive relationship with all Revenue authorities based on the guiding principles of mutual trust and transparency.
